August 20, 2026 – Bramble US and Bramble UK announced the acquisition of #1 New York Times and *Sunday Times b*estselling author Devney Perry's brand new City of Saint series—a set of interconnected standalone dystopian romances, where a pilot infiltrates a rival faction to avenge her father's death and learns she might not be the hero…but the villain. The first in this four book series, where Revenge meets Top Gun and Divergent, will be published in Fall 2027. Senior editor Susan Barnes at Bramble and Gillian Green, Tor Bramble UK Publisher, acquired the series as part of an eight way auction in a major deal for eight figures by Georgana Grinstead at The Seymour Agency.

Of the acquisition, Perry says "This series has everything I love in a dystopian romance, from action and adventure to spice and swoon. I am beyond excited to partner with the incredible team at Bramble to bring these stories to readers around the world."

Barnes added, "Some stories cross your desk and are just an immediate, 'Absolutely.' A unique, dystopian world, with Devney's irresistible voice and ability to turn even the harshest of enemies to lovers? My only question was: where do I sign?! I can't wait to work with Devney on this series, and I'm thrilled to welcome her to Bramble."

Gillian Green, Tor UK Publisher says: "Devney Perry is an absolute powerhouse storyteller - I've been obsessed with her writing since devouring Shield of Sparrows. We're thrilled to have acquired her brilliant new series for Tor Bramble, alongside our US colleagues. Devney has crafted an exhilarating, high-concept world that seamlessly fuses breathtaking action with the deeply emotional, high-stakes romance her readers live for. "
